

Ashley Sanders began her real estate career working in property management for two years while living in Bloomington, IL. With an extensive sales background ranging over eight years, she brings this experience to Miller Chicago in her current role as leasing agent, and specializes in the Wicker Park / Bucktown area. She also handles marketing for a number of our brokers' listings. Ashley attended Illinois State University where she studied Psychology.